

Musique Parabolique

Musique Parabolique

Armed with parabolic microphone and live sampling system Dennis van Tilburg takes his audience with wireless headphones on an auditory journey. During a walk through the neighborhood he catches snatches of street scenes and mixes it live to a composition that manipulates reality. The show evokes associations with spy movies and defies the boundaries of privacy in public spaces when unsolicited outsiders become part of the performance.

At unexpected moments makes our experience eerie, surreal or absurdist.

Musician and sound artist Dennis van Tilburg operates on the border where music disintegrates into chunks and where apparent loose sounds unexpectedly form wonderful music.

He is always looking for new techniques to create an idiosyncratic sound palette.

For Musique Parabolique Dennis finds inspiration in the 'musique concrète' from the forties and fifties of the last century.
